Dear ministry partners,

In Jeremiah 35 we read about the Rechabites, an exceptional family whom God uses as an example of obedience and faithfulness. God blesses them and promises "Jonadab the son of Rechab shall never lack a man to stand before me."

God always uses faithful families to model obedience and faithfulness. One such family, the Barnetts, have served as missionaries in Kenya for generations and have been greatly used by God to build His church in that place. They have also served as examples and mentors for generations of other missionary families... including my own.

Tom and Ruth (Barnett) Collins were the Sr. Missionaries for my parents, Paul and Betty Lou Teasdale when they began working in Kenya in 1960. Twenty years later Ruth, then a widow, mentored Barb when we first went to Kenya in 1980. Erik Barnett, was my parents Field Director during most of their time in Kenya. He then served as a Bible School Principal near Mombasa, and still took time to write personal letters to Barb and me while we were in college. Two of Erik's sons, John and Paul, were my dorm-parents and teachers at Rift Valley Academy during my high school years and were outstanding role models of godly men. Roy and Helen (Barnett) Stover were also mentors and models who disciplined me and countless others.

Dr. Bill Barnett, was our mission doctor for many years and among his many responsibilities, directed the work at Kijabe Medical Center. He was a gifted physician, who saved countless lives, and always pointed his patients to the Great Physician who saves forever. He delivered my brother Dan, took out my appendix, and saved the sight in my right eye following an unfortunate incident during a slingshot war in Blakey dorm.

John Barnett's son, Glenn and his wife, Ame served in South Africa with ABWE for many years. Since returning to the USA, their Mission Agency has graciously allowed them to serve in a volunteer capacity with TMM. Glenn is taking on the duties of CFO and will also be serving on TMM's Board of Directors. They have twin boys, Erik and Ethan, and daughters Lizzie and Eva who attend our local public school and are also great examples of obedience and faithfulness to their parents and their Heavenly Father. We are delighted they have joined our TMM campus staff.

Thank you for your obedience and faithfulness in supporting such families,

Jim Teasdale
